Princess Diana`s Dress on E-Bay

Famous dress by designer Catherine Walker, which belonged to Diana, Princess of Wales, will be placed on auction this weekend, via e-Bay.

Bidding will begin on Saturday with the starting price of 150 pounds and the dress is expected to reach incredible 1 million pounds until the end of bidding on August 22, Daily Express reports.

The Princess wore the gown to the Cannes Film Festival in 1987 and again to the opening of Miss Saigon in 1989. It is only one example of 79 Diana`s dresses that were sold at a New York auction home for charity, two months after her tragic death and they are owned by WE cable television network.

All proceeds from the sale will go to America's Promise Alliance to support a cause close to Diana's heart - helping underprivileged children.

-We'd love for the person who buys the dress to be somebody who recognises all the great things that Princess Diana stood for. And hopefully their goal is to keep Diana's spirit alive- Ms Martin said.
